The 12th Baltic Sea Summer School in Vilnius, Lithuania was a unique mixture of practical morning sessions, information overloaded lectures and inspiring tutorials

Exceptional tutors, both highly professional and entertaining grabbed our attention and did not let go. Small numbered participant groups allowed for interactive discussions and hands-on solving of intriguing case studies. Overwhelming friendly atmosphere was supported also by a final evening spree with an opportunity to become Lithuanians for a little while thanks to the native dancing lesson.

Baltic sea summer school is simply an experience that every epileptology enthusiast will appreciate.
